

Equal Justice Initiative

Criminal Justice Issues and Prisoners' Rights

<https://eji.org/news/two-more-alabama-prison-officers-indicted-for-violence-against-people-in-custody/>

Policy Issue Resources

Criminal Justice Reform

Racial Justice

Anti-Poverty

Public Education

124 results for "Prison"

03.11.21

Two employees of the Alabama Department of Corrections were indicted yesterday in the assault of an incarcerated man at Staton Correctional Facility in Elmore, Alabama. The U.S. Department of Justice announced that a federal grand jury returned a five-count indictment against Sergeant Devlon Williams and Correctional Officer Larry Managan Jr.

This makes six criminal indictments charging staff with abusing inmates at the Staton/Elmore prison complex since 2017. One lieutenant, two sergeants, and two officers have been charged in federal court. A sixth officer, Jeremy Singleton, was charged with manslaughter in state court last July for beating a hogtied prisoner at Elmore prison in November 2017.

According to court documents, Williams and Managan assaulted an inmate at Staton by striking him with their feet and with a collapsible baton. The indictment also charges Managan with assaulting the inmate by walking on the inmate.

Related Article

EJI uncovered a pattern of assaults, drug trafficking, and extortion by correctional officers.

The culture of violence and abuse of power at the Staton/Elmore prison complex is well documented. EJI filed a complaint in 2013 detailing a pattern by staff at the highest levels of engaging in excessive physical violence against incarcerated men.

In 2018, EJI re-initiated its investigation at Elmore Correctional Facility and the adjacent Staton Correctional Facility and uncovered a pattern of officer-on-prisoner assaults, officer complicity in drug trafficking and extortion, and a growing rate of abuse and violence.

A culture of violence and misconduct is widespread among the leadership in Alabama's prison system. The Justice Department in December 2020 filed a civil rights complaint against the State of Alabama alleging that its failure to protect incarcerated people from violence, excessive force, and abuse by prison staff and its indifference to the high rate of homicides, violence, and sexual abuse in the states' prisons violate the Constitution.

Tags:

Alabama

Prison Conditions

First Conviction Obtained in Federal Investigation of Elmore Beatings

Elmore, Donaldson, and Bibb Correctional Facilities

EJI Releases New Report on the Transatlantic Slave Trade

Daniel Smith, Believed to Be the Last Child of Enslaved People, Dies at 90

Homicide at Limestone Is 16th in Alabama Prisons This Year

EJI Partners Across the Country Dedicate Markers Recognizing Lynchings

122 Commerce Street Montgomery, AL 36104 \(334\) 269-1803269-1803) [\[emailprotected\]](#)

Subscribe to our newsletter

