Campaign and Advocacy

With just a few days left in December, NARF staff are gearing up for a successful 2022. May you also be filled with the hope that a new year brings!

For Native peoples, the fight against inequality continues. Systemic inequities were laid bare and magnified by the pandemic. However, your generous support allows us to stay strong and sustain the fight for Native rights and wellbeing.

NARF exists to serve Native America, and only with your support are we able to serve tribes in this fight for justice. This week is your last chance to help make a difference in 2021.

Will you stand with us as we close the door on the challenges of this year and prepare for the future? Please consider a donation to the Native American Rights Fund.
