The ACLU of Montana announced today the publication of its investigative report, Set up to Fail: Montanas Probation and Parole System.

The ACLU of Montana began researching the probation and parole system in Montana over concerns that the states supervision system actually increases recidivism and detention rates, feeding mass incarceration. Montana spends nearly $200 million annually to incarcerate people and is the only state in a 10-state region that has seen its incarceration rates dramatically increase.
