

Vera Institute of Justice

Criminal Justice Issues and Prisoners' Rights

<https://www.vera.org/research/johnna-christian-family-relationships-during-incarceration-and-reentry>

Policy Issue Resources

The Vera Institute of Justice's Neil A. Weiner Research Speaker Series features Johnna Christian, assistant professor at Rutgers University in the School of Criminal Justice. In this podcast, Professor Christian talks about family members' relationships with their loved ones who are incarcerated or returning home from jail or prison. She discusses different types of support family members provide to one another, including the often overlooked contributions made by those who are involved with the juvenile or criminal justice system and the implications for reducing recidivism.

The Vera Institute of Justice's Neil A. Weiner Research Speaker Series features Johnna Christian, assistant professor at Rutgers University in the School of Criminal Justice. In this podcast, Professor Christian talks about family members' relationships with their loved ones who are incarcerated or returning home from jail or prison. She discusses different types of support family members provide to one another, including the often overlooked contributions made by those who are involved with the juvenile or criminal justice system and the implications for reducing recidivism.

A First Look

New York's recent bail reform law, which was passed in April 2019 and amended on July 2, 2020, was expected to reduce the footprint of jail incarceration by limiting the use of money bail. The new law mandated pretrial release for the vast majority of nonviolent charges and required that judges consider a person's ability to pay bail. A comprehensive ...

A correctional officer watches as people sit for lunch at the Moriah Shock Incarceration Correctional Facility in Mineville, New York. Photo by AP Photo/Mike Groll. Last month, New York closed six upstate prisons, each of which had been operating well under capacity. Collectively, the now-closed facilities filled just 43.7 percent of their available ...

When COVID-19 struck, many jails and prisons were poorly equipped to provide even basic medical care. Yet, the onset of the pandemic found the country's mass incarceration system shamefully well-equipped with punitive solitary confinement cells. As it became clear that incarcerated people were in grave danger, public health experts recommended dec ...

Transformative change, sent to your inbox.

Vera Institute of Justice. All rights reserved.