The following comes from Timothy Trujillo, 35, who has been incarcerated at California Correctional Institution (CCI) in Tehachapi close to 15 years, approximately four of which he has been held in the SHU (Security Housing Unit), or solitary confinement, on 23-hour-a-day-lockdown. According to his stepfather, Trujillo has spent his time in prison seeking to expand his knowledge and his quest for spiritual enlightenment. In his piece, a rap entitled Dare to Think, Trujillo writes that his mind remains free. He can be reached by writing: Timothy Trujillo, P32319, Pelican Bay State Prison, P.O. Box 7500, Crescent City, CA 95532. Lisa Dawson

From the Mother Country's womb livin in bondage deep within this tomb I refuse to be consumed so my body is doomed but my mind remains free that is one thing they'll never take from me because I see with clear eyes I can recognize the landlord's lies see through their disguise

Why do so many accept poverty and neglect?
They infect our posterity, blinding their clarity filling them with false hopes and dreams turning our young into dope fiends and things no longer human beings
The police siren screams
This system is falling apart at the seams
In the ghetto, another youth is slain in vain
People with heroin-filled veins Methamphetamines fill the nostrils
Everyone is livin hostile Mothers cry, children die, nobody's askin why

Look into the sky for unanswered prayers you begin to wonder-who really cares?
Millions of sisters and brothers, fathers and mothers sittin in cages for ages
My mind constantly rages, saddened by history's pages
So many people up in prisons it's like a human aviary pointin their finger, tryin to tell me, sell me to a private prison
Are you listenin, envisionin what I'm sayin?

There is plenty but millions go hungry Doesn't it make you angry?
People homeless and unhealthy allowing a few to grow wealthy How far will this sideshow go?
The capital flows in the opposite direction, too many starving and needlessly dyin in my section And say goodbye to education in this nation hello false indoctrination
Do we really know what we're facin
I'm in my cage pacin

Ponderin the unending war spending
When will we begin the mending and befriending?
Lets stop pretending like everything is okay and if we turn a blind eye it will all just go away Theres gottobe another way
They play with our lives usin us as cannon fodder Today someone lost a son or daughter Global warming, its only getting hotter Theyre polluting all our air and water Where are we headed?

Maybe a nuclear war or disaster caused by the power-hungry master What comes after? Does it really matter?
By now its surprising we all dont have cancer
If something isnt done now-what will be the cost?
It appears humanity is lost
Will it all end in a global holocaust?

I have so many questions but my pen is out of ink Why am I in prison you ask?
Because Idaredtothink. . .

The Voices from Solitary series publishes dispatches from people surviving the lived experience of solitary confinement.

Accurate information and authentic storytelling can serve as powerful antidotes to ignorance and injustice. We have helped generate public awareness, mainstream media attention, and informed policymaking on what was once an invisible domestic human rights crisis.

Only with your support can we continue this groundbreaking work, shining light into the darkest corners of the U.S. criminal punishment system.
