

Intercommunity Justice and Peace Center

Discrimination, Detention, and Deportation: Immigration & Refugees

<https://ijpcincinnati.org/programs/immigration/yes-program/>

Campaign and Advocacy

IJPCs Youth Educating Society (YES) program empowers immigrant youth and allies through support and education to cultivate social and legislative change for a more inclusive and just society.

YES is the only group of its kind in the region. Founded in 2011 and led by an advisory board of their peers, YES is a leadership program designed for high school and college-aged youth who are documented and undocumented immigrants, children from immigrant families, or friends and allies to the movement. They network to learn more about immigration issues and take an active role in the community. Members learn how to share their personal experiences with the immigration system to create a unique and powerful voice advocating for comprehensive immigration reform.

YES has become the go-to resource for speakers, information, and activism for young immigrants and community allies. YES leaders:

Sign up for issue-specific emails and important updates from IJPC!

IJPCs non-profit status means that it relies on your contributions to provide essential programming and work for justice. Donate today and see your dollars make a difference. Donations are tax deductible.

The Intercommunity Justice and Peace Center educates and advocates for peace, challenges unjust local, national and global systems, and promotes the creation of a nonviolent society. IJPC is supported by faith-based organizations and individuals who work together to educate around justice issues, take collaborative action and do public witness. We address local, national and international concerns focusing on the death penalty, immigration, human trafficking and peace and nonviolence.