

Human Rights Watch

Torture, Former Combatants, Political Prisoners, Terror Suspects, & Terrorists

<https://www.hrw.org/news/2013/05/31/joint-letter-secretary-kerry-alleged-torture-abu-ghraib>

Public Facing Advocacy Writing

Help us continue to fight human rights abuses. Please give now to support our work

Allow Iraqi plaintiffs to travel to US to participate in lawsuit against government contractor

Share this via Facebook

Share this via Twitter

Share this via WhatsApp

Share this via Email

Other ways to share Share this via LinkedIn

Share this via Reddit  Share this via Telegram  Share this via Printer

The Honorable John F. Kerry

Secretary of State

US Department of State

2201 C Street NW

Washington, DC 20520

Dear Secretary Kerry,

We, the undersigned organizations, are writing to urge the United States government to allow Taha Yaseen Arraq Rashid, Asaad Hamza Hanfoosh Al-Zubae and Suhail Najim Abdullah Al Shimari to travel from Iraq to the United States to participate in a lawsuit they brought against a private military contractor, CACI Premier Technology, Inc., alleging torture and other abuse at Abu Ghraib, Al Shimari v. CACI Premier Technology, Civil Action No. 08-cv-0827 (E.D. Va. filed Sept. 15, 2008). All three men were released from U.S. detention more than five years ago without charge.

The United States has consistently reaffirmed its commitment to providing redress to persons who suffer human rights violations, such as torture and war crimes, including by military contractors. Likewise, the courts of this country have affirmed that aliens suffering from grave human rights abuses can bring these claims in U.S. federal courts. Their right to a remedy is also supported by this country's principles of due process and fundamental principles of international human rights law. This right, enshrined in international treaties and customary international law including in Articles 13 and 14 of the Convention against Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment, and in Articles 2(3)(a) and 9(5) of the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights strongly counsels against a state depriving victims of human rights violations of an opportunity to present their claims.

Mr. Rashid, Mr. Al-Zubae, and Mr. Al Shimari, along with a fourth plaintiff, Salah Al-Ejaili, [\[1\]](#) filed timely claims in federal court in an effort to secure some form of accountability for the abuses they allege they were subjected to in 2003-2004 while detained at Abu Ghraib prison. However, their right to pursue a remedy is currently in jeopardy because of the logistical challenges they have encountered seeking entry to the United States. The judge presiding over their litigation, Honorable Judge Gerald Bruce Lee, has ordered that they appear in the United States to testify in their case and indeed, each plaintiff is eager to travel to the U.S. to provide a detailed account of the serious harms they suffered. While they were all granted visas to travel to the U.S. this winter, and were able to secure boarding passes for their flight from Baghdad, Iraq to the U.S. on March 15, 2013, they were informed that U.S. authorities would not permit them to board the flight just before the flight's departure. All three men immediately reapplied for expedited visas to travel to the U.S., but these visas have not yet been granted. The plaintiffs and their lawyers have been in regular contact with officials at the Department of State since March 15th, but have been unable to ascertain the reason for the delay in the granting of visas or why they were denied permission to board their flight on March 15th.

In order to ensure Mr. Rashid, Mr. Al-Zubae, and Mr. Al Shimari have a right to a remedy for the serious abuses they allege, we urge the State Department to allow them to travel to the United States so that their claims are not prematurely dismissed, without consideration on the merits.

Sincerely,

American Civil Liberties Union

Amnesty International

Asylum and Human Rights Program, Boston University School of Law

Center on National Security at Fordham Law

Council on American-Islamic Relations

Global Justice Clinic, NYU School of Law[\[2\]](#)

Human Rights First

Human Rights Watch

International Justice Network

National Religious Campaign Against Torture

The Center for Victims of Torture

Witness Against Torture

CC: Uzra Zeya, Assistant Secretary (Acting), Bureau of Democracy, Human Rights and Labor, Department of State

[\[1\]](#) Mr. Al-Ejaili currently resides in Qatar and was able to travel to the U.S. in March 2013 to appear for a deposition in this litigation.

[\[2\]](#) This letter does not reflect the views of NYU School of Law.

Bahrain Death Sentences Follow Torture, Sham Trials

Suspicious Killings and Extrajudicial Executions by Egyptian Security Forces

Share this via Facebook

Share this via Twitter

Share this via WhatsApp

Share this via Email

Other ways to share Share this via LinkedIn

Share this via Reddit  Share this via Telegram  Share this via Printer

Human Rights Watch defends the rights of people in 90 countries worldwide, spotlighting abuses and bringing perpetrators to justice

Get updates on human rights issues from around the globe. Join our movement today.

Human Rights Watch is a 501(C)(3) nonprofit registered in the US under EIN: 13-2875808