Solitary Watch

close

Criminal Justice Issues and Prisoners' Rights

https://solitarywatch.org/2015/10/25/seven-days-in-solitary-102515/

Campaign and Advocacy

Search
close
close
Our Weekly Roundup of News and Views on Solitary Confinement

by Aviva Stahl | October 25, 2015

The Hartford Courant examined the significant decrease in the use of solitary confinement at the Connecticuts maximum-security prison, Northern Correctional Institution from 244 people held in isolation in 2003 to 53 held in isolation in mid-October 2015. Hope Metcalf of Yale Law School said, From a numbers perspective, Connecticut is doing much better than it was The current leadership [at the Department of Correction] understands that solitary should be a last resort and for the shortest period of time that is the biggest change.

Gothamist offered continue coverage of proposed rule changes at Rikers Island, which would allow the Department of Corrections to waive existing limitations on placement in solitary.

A 21-year old Minneapolis man facing terrorism conspiracy charges is in 23-hour solitary confinement and has been prevented from seeing his family, reported the Star Tribune. If this continues, he will suffer mentally, said the mother of Guled Omar. This confinement is inhumane and the way theyre treating him, its something thats beyond punishment.

The ACLU filed a lawsuit alleging that people held in solitary confinement in Pennsylvania sometimes wait more than a year to receive court-ordered mental health treatment. Lead lawyer David Gersch said, Theres no question that our clients are incompetent, need treatment and need it promptly. They shouldnt be in jail for months and years, much less in solitary confinement without treatment.

A report released by the Bureau of Justice Statistics found that in 2011-2012, 20% of people in state and federal prisons and 18% of those held in local jails spent some time in solitary confinement. The reports were based on a survey of about 91,000 people held in prisons and jails across the country (reported by the Guardian, Newsweek and others).

Seven individuals incarcerated in SouthCarolina have received a combined total of nearly 20 years in solitary confinement for making a music video which was later uploaded to WorldStar. Its hard to believe that South Carolina prison officials dont have better things to do than troll the internet looking for prison videos,said David Fathi of the ACLUs National Prison Project.

Fusion spoke to Shaka Senghor about what its like to spend four and a half years in solitary confinement. I went four and a half years straight without physical contact, without a hug, without being able to touch my child. The first time I got a visit in solitary, I had to see my child while I was shackled up and handcuffed up, and then still have to see him through bulletproof glass. That does something to you on the most basic human level.

New Yorks Onodaga County has announced that all children will now be held at the Justice Center in downtown Syracuse, instead of the Jamesville Correctional Facility. While at Jamesville, many kids were held in 23-hour solitary confinement, and had to choose whether to exercise or shower for the single hour they were let out.

Aviva Stahl is a Brooklyn-based reporter who writes about science/health at the intersection of mass incarceration, national security, and trans rights. Shes written for the New York Times, Wired, Buzzfeed News, Solitary Watch, and other outlets. Find her @stahlidarity and at stahlidarity.com.

Accurate information and authentic storytelling can serve as powerful antidotes to ignorance and injustice. We have helped generate public awareness, mainstream media attention, and informed policymaking on what was once an invisible domestic human rights crisis.

Only with your support can we continue this groundbreaking work, shining light into the darkest corners of the U.S. criminal punishment system.

by Mirilla Zhu

October 26, 2022

by Caitlin Konya

October 19, 2022

by Mirilla Zhu

October 12, 2022

Solitary Watch encourages comments and welcomes a range of ideas, opinions, debates, and respectful disagreement. We do not allow name-calling, bullying, cursing, or personal attacks of any kind. Any embedded links should be to information relevant to the conversation. Comments that violate these guidelines will be removed, and repeat offenders will be blocked. Thank you for your cooperation.

P.O. Box 11374 Washington, DC 20008

info@solitarywatch.org

Solitary Watch

Copyright 2022, Solitary Watch

Read about rights and permissions.

Solitary Watch News