Solitary Watch

Criminal Justice Issues and Prisoners' Rights

https://solitarywatch.org/2021/11/17/support-the-future-of-solitary-watch/

Campaign and Advocacy

close Search
close
close
and Honor the Legacy of Our Founder, James Ridgeway

[su_button url=https://www.newsmatch.org/organizations/solitary-watch target=blank style=flat background=#de7002 color=#FFFFFF size=10 center=yes radius=5 icon_color=#000000 class=font-family: Arial !important; font-size: 16px !important; font-weight: bold !important; [Your Donations Make Our Work Possible.[/su_button]

Dear Donors, Readers, and Friends:

by Jean Casella | November 17, 2021

We are approaching the end of what has been a difficult year for all of us at Solitary Watch. In February, we suffered a devastating internal loss with the sudden passing of James Ridgeway, our founder and co-director.

A few of you were fortunate enough to know Jim personally. Anyone who has visited this site, read his other reporting, or learned about the travesty of solitary confinementwhich was largely invisible to the public before he made it his lifes workhas been touched byhim. He was the soul and spirit of Solitary Watch, our North Star.

Exposing the torture of solitary confinement was only the latest phase in Jims remarkable sixty-year career in investigative journalism. But though he had reported from all over the world and from the seats of power in Washington, he came to believe that it was the most important work he had ever done.

Jim started Solitary Watch in 2009 when he was 73 years oldan age when, as he put it, he was supposed to be driving a golf cart to the early bird special. Instead, as a 2016 piece in the New Yorker described, he pushed his walker to the post office every few days to pick up the dozens of letters written to him by people in solitary confinement. And he always wrote back.

Voices from Solitary, our unique series of first-hand accounts of life in lockdown, grew out of that correspondence. So did our support for incarcerated journalists, for whom Jim had the greatest admiration and respect. (This tweet was written on the day before his death.) As we move forward without Jim, weve pledged to expand that support, and to hire our first formerly incarcerated staff writer.

But this work can only continue with the support of people like you. Thanks to NewsMatch, your donation will be matched, up to $1,000 per donation. If you choose to make your gift recur monthly, every one of your donations will be matched.

[su_button url=https://www.newsmatch.org/organizations/solitary-watch target=blank style=flat background=#de7002 color=#FFFFFF size=10 center=yes radius=5 icon_color=#000000 class=font-family: Arial !important; font-size: 16px !important; font-weight: bold !important; Give Now, And Your Donation Will Be Doubled.[/su_button]

We thank you for supporting the work of Solitary Watch, in Jims memory and in service of the cause we all share.

Jean Casella is the director of Solitary Watch. She has also published work in The Guardian, The Nation, and Mother Jones, and is coeditor of the book Hell Is a Very Small Place: Voices from Solitary Confinement. She has received a Soros Justice Media Fellowship and an Alicia Patterson Fellowship. She tweets @solitarywatch.

Accurate information and authentic storytelling can serve as powerful antidotes to ignorance and injustice. We have helped generate public awareness, mainstream media attention, and informed policymaking on what was once an invisible domestic human rights crisis.

Only with your support can we continue this groundbreaking work, shining light into the darkest corners of the U.S. criminal punishment system.

by Jean Casella

by Jean Casella

December 23, 2021

by Events and Announcements

December 3, 2021

Solitary Watch encouragescomments and welcomes a range of ideas, opinions, debates, and respectful disagreement. We do not allow name-calling, bullying, cursing, or personal attacks of any kind. Any embedded links should be to information relevant to the conversation. Commentsthat violate these guidelines will be removed, and repeat offenders will be blocked. Thank you for your cooperation.

P.O. Box 11374 Washington, DC 20008

info@solitarywatch.org

Solitary Watch

Copyright 2022, Solitary Watch

Read about rights and permissions.

Solitary Watch News